

IPT MASTER CLASS 2020

GENDER, INTERSECTIONALITY AND PEACE WORK

This Master Class supports trainers, facilitators, development- and aid workers, peace workers and gender educators on how to encourage and guide people to re-think culture, gender, race, sexual orientation, social class and more. A special focus is placed on considerations of intersectionality while doing gender and peace, as well as on practice-based learning of intersectional pedagogy.

Dates: 25th of July - 4th of August 2020

Application Deadline: 05th of April 2020

Application Deadline of self-funded Participants can be considered after the Deadline

Being aware of identity politics; language as identity; context signifier and tool of communication across disagreements and conflicts; this Class strengthens participants' knowledge and skills in working on gender justice, equality and non-violence in their respective environments. It offers innovative and participatory methodology that encourages participants to reflect on their own identity and positions in society, and strengthens understanding and experience on how to engage with gender and intersectionality in different learning spaces and peacebuilding processes.

The Master Class moves away from the usual technocratisation to the practical application of how to work meaningfully with those experiencing the vulnerabilities that we seek to tackle. Participant, 2019

Participants will:

- Gain practical experience and understanding on how gender and other identities correlate and impact our individual and collective experiences
- Learn how to facilitate conversations and group-processes around gender, intersectionality, queer rights etc.
- Acquire insights on how gender and other aspects of identities correlate with experiences of peace, conflict and violence

COURSE FEES: 1700 EUR

FULL AND PARTIAL SCHOLARSHIPS ARE AVAILABLE FOR PEOPLE FROM ODA-RECEIVING COUNTRIES!

This includes tuition fee, course materials, shuttle to and from the airport, as well as full-board accommodation, coffee breaks and a social event.

TRAINER

At the end of the day, I want to show my students that there may still be a lot of prejudice in the complex world we live in. But we still have the power to bring about change.

Dr. Gal Harmat holds a PhD in Gender Analysis of Peace Education and Dialogue Encounters from Nitra University (Slovakia) and an MA in Gender and Peacebuilding from the UN-mandated University for Peace in Costa Rica. She is the head of the Gender and Peacebuilding Programme at the UN University. As a Gender and Peacebuilding Specialist, she has extensive experience areas of training, conflict analysis, dialogue facilitation and empowerment. She has worked in various countries in Eastern Europe, Africa, and West- and Southeast Asia for organisations, such as UN Women, the OSCE or the Council of Europe. Gal has recently published her book on 'Intersectional Pedagogy: Creative Education Practices for Gender and Peace Work'.
